DR. J. F. KEMPF MYERS LECTURER

Head of Columbia Department of Geology Talks on Utah Copper—Lecture Illustrated by Lantern Slides.

LECTURES BEFORE CLASS

Dr. James F. Kempf, head of the Department of Geology at Columbia University, and President of the Geological Society of America, delivered the second Myers lecture of the year before a large audience in the College Chapel last Saturday evening. The lecture on "The Mines of Bingham Canyon, Utah," was generously illustrated with stereopticon views. Most of the pictures which were flashed on the screen were taken by Dr. Kempf during his visits to the canyon.

The speaker began by giving a general outline and history of the discovery, exploration, and settlement of the region in which Bingham Canyon is situated. This canyon in the Great Salt Lake Basin ranks in beauty with the famous Grand Canyon and the Yosemite Valley. The scenes of the country in and around the canyon proved this statement to the audience.

Dr. Kempf then went on to tell not too theoretically the geology of the region in which the mines of the Utah Copper Company are located. He also dealt with the method of extracting the ore. Again the words of the lecturer were clearly and beautifully illustrated with his lantern slides.

With the aid of diagrams drawn by himself, Dr. Kempf explained the cause and solution of the litigation in regard to staking off claims in the Bingham Canyon. He has been interested in this region since 1902, and has spent a great deal of time mapping out the rocks and giving valuable advice to the miners interested in the development of the rich ore bodies found there.

Dr. Kempf made his lecture interesting by avoiding the use of too many technical names known only to the geologist, and by talking from personal experiences. The usual reception was held in Commons Hall after the lecture, where Dr. Kempf willingly answered the questions put to him.

At the 10:30 hour in the morning, Dr. Kempf lectured before the Mineralogy Class on "Gold". Others who were interested in the subject swelled the audience to rather large proportions.

Dr. Kempf showed that our gold supply is now a question worthy of very serious consideration. The disproportion between operating costs and selling price has created a serious problem for all miners of the yellow metal, and in particular for smaller producers with limited capital.

Dr. Kempf gave a very interesting

HAMILTON TO MEET ARMY IN HOCKEY

Fast Game Expected—Army Tied by Springfield, and Defeated by Williams.

The Buff and Blue hockey team will conclude a busy week with a trip to West Point on Saturday. Of course that statement is subject to the vicissitudes of the Weather Man. There is some doubt, certainly, judging by the amount of warm weather that has been circulating about the country this winter, whether there will be sufficient ice in the Lower Hudson Valley by Saturday to support a puck, or not.

The so-called "dope" on the Army team is very scarce. Springfield fought the Army to a tie in the latter's initial game on January 29. The final score stood 3 to 3, even after an extra period of ten minutes had been played. Last Saturday the strong Williams team was more successful and defeated West Point by the score of 3 to 2. In this game, also, an extra period was required.

There is no covered rink at West Point, and so it is safe to conjecture that the Army has had as little practice as Hamilton has been able to get. In last Saturday's game West Point played seven-man hockey. Hamilton much prefers the six-man style of game, which, in fact, has been almost universally used in intercollegiate hockey this year. Accordingly, efforts are being made to arrange that Saturday's game shall be played with six men on a team.

TENNIS SEASON

The schedule for the tennis season of 1921 has not yet been completed, nor has any definite match been scheduled. There will, however, be eight matches this year and Syracuse, Colgate, Union, R. P. I., Williams or Cornell or Fordham, will probably be among Hamilton's opponents on the courts.

The loss of "Stan" Welsh, who is listed as 53rd in the National Tennis rating, is greatly felt by the team. Paton and Coupe, of last year's team, will form the nucleus of the team this year. Barron, '21, Fry, '21, Getman, '22, Bixler, '22, Acebron, '23, Fitzgerald, '23, Langtry, '23, Ogilvie, '24, and Flagg, '24, will probably form the squad.

The number of matches has been doubled over last year's schedule. Manager Mulford has obtained cuts for the men on the team to make the trips. The courts and backstops will be put into first class condition. Indoor practice in the gymnasium will start as soon as the basketball season is over. The first match will be played in the early part of May.

account of the occurrence and methods of extraction of gold, which was aided by diagrams of the structures.

BUFF AND BLUE BASKET-BALL TEAM WINS TWO IN ROW

Rochester Beaten by Heavy Score—Early Season Defeat by Trinity Avenged—Lawler and Garner Star in Both Games.

In one of the fastest games seen on the Hill in a long time Hamilton defeated Rochester 33 to 16, Saturday night.

The Yellow started the scoring when Bartlett made a basket after Chambers had missed a foul. Soon after Hamilton got her first point when Lawler made good on a foul shot. Keehn followed this with two field goals in quick succession. From this time on until just before the half closed the Buff and Blue was in the lead. At this time, however, Kirchmaier, who had been substituted for Chambers, caged two field baskets and a foul point, which closed the period with Rochester in the lead 13 to 11.

Hamilton began the second half with a rush and soon had the lead when Garner, Keehn, and Lawler each made a basket. The only points which Rochester made in this period were a basket by Merson and a foul shot by Kirchmaier. In the meantime Hamilton was caging twenty-two points.

Throughout the entire game Hamilton showed its superiority in passing the ball and in making good its tries at the basket. Lawler and Keehn showed the best work for Hamilton, the former making three baskets and seven foul shots while Keehn caged five field goals. For the Yellow, Kirchmaier and Merson were the outstanding players.

The Buff and Blue basketball team added another victory in the Soper Gym last Saturday night by downing the Trinity five by a score of 24 to 18. Lawler was the star of a fast and closely-fought contest. His basket shooting was sensational. He made 18 of the 24 points secured by Hamilton, including 10 fouls out of 13 chances. The loss of Capt. Cowan, in the second half, was a handicap as his dribbling and passing was a strong factor in the Buff and Blue offensive. Canner, the Trinity forward, who starred in the last game with Hamilton, again led his team in scoring.

The game was featured by the hard-luck shooting of both sides. Time after time the ball glanced off or rolled out of the basket after an apparently perfect shot. Lawler started the scoring with a clean basket after an attempt at a foul. Trinity then came from behind and the score seesawed back and forth with Hamilton on the large end. Toward the end of the half the Buff and Blue held a safe margin of 9 to 6, but three baskets in succession by Trinity put the latter in the lead, as the whistle blew.

With the opening of the second half, Lawler secured five points, which gave the Buff and Blue the lead. Cowan was retired on personal fouls and Campbell substituted with the score 16 to 15 against Trinity. The rest of the half was interrupted by frequent fouls called on Trinity, which added several points to Hamilton's score.

Let's Go, Alumni!

It may not be fitting for an undergraduate to criticize the alumni, but it seems to me that we are entitled to more support from the alumni in athletics. It is admitted that we have many loyal alumni, who contribute towards athletics with financial aid, and we also have a small body who give up considerable time and energy that Hamilton's athletics might be improved.

However, Hamilton's greatest need in athletics is material. We must have more trained athletes entering college with every incoming class if we expect to play the teams which we have tried to play in recent years. Nobody is lying down on the job here on the Hill. We are supporting our teams as never before and there are more men out for the various teams than ever before in the history of Hamilton. The great difficulty is that but a small percentage of these men are trained and have ever before had any athletic experience. The class of 1924 has gone out for teams in large numbers and their spirit has been admirable, but their previous training has been negligible except in a very few cases. We must have many trained men in next year's class or we can't go on. No amount of coaching can develop a team of raw untrained men into an all-star aggregation, which can win games. We are greatly handicapped by our present shell of a gym with its wobbly track and poor equipment, but the need of the new gym, while it is great is small when compared with our need for men.

Alumni, you can help us. We must have your help. One athlete would benefit Hamilton more than a thousand dollar subscription to the Athletic Association. Won't you use your energy and your time, if necessary, to make the class of 1925 a class which can put us on the map in athletics.

J. E. H., '21.

Our Honor System

Of late it has come to the notice of a number of students that there are some men, both freshmen and upper-classmen, who do not seem to understand the honor court in all its workings. For the upper-classmen there is no possible excuse, for one year in Hamilton College should impress the honor system on the mind of each man so strongly that he could never forget it. There may be some excuse for the Freshmen, but at any rate it is time that any misunderstandings be cleared up.

That members of this college are to refrain from cheating in examinations has not been the subject of any disagreements in so far as the writer is aware. The point that seems to be misunderstood is that article of the constitution which puts a man on his honor to report any fraud or attempted fraud that he has observed. The writer has heard several men—and some of them upper-classmen—say that although they would pretty heartily despise any man they caught cheating, they would not report him. One man said that he should dislike to feel that he had brought disgrace on a fellow-student, and another that he should feel that he was ruining a man's whole career.

This feeling is an evidence of misdirected "gang loyalty". The idea of it seems to be that all students should stick together against those in authority. Fellows, this cribbing in examinations is not a crime against the faculty, but an act of disloyalty to you. The man who seeks good marks in examinations by unfair methods is attempting to secure an advantage over the rest which his abilities do not entitle him to. Reporting that man to the honor court—which in reality is nothing more than a jury of his peers—is securing yourself and the rest of us against acts of outlawry. You would without hesitation report a man caught in burglary to the police. The cases are parallel.

By bringing a cribber to justice you are not bringing any disgrace upon him. He has brought it upon himself by his own acts. You are acting more honorably and more mercifully when you report such a man than when you let him get away with crooked work. One success in cheating might very easily lead a man to habitual cheating, whereas detection and the consequent shame may very well bring him to his senses.

We have an honor system at Hamilton College that really works. It is one of the biggest factors in character building that we have. A man who lives up to its requirements cannot fail to go out from this college with far better moral balance than he had when he entered. Remember that every infraction of the discipline of the honor court weakens this system. Failure to report fraud is to aid one whom the college looks upon as a criminal.

INTERESTING MEETING OF CHEMISTRY CLUB

Lighthall, King, and May Read Papers on Physiological Chemistry—King, '21, New President.

NEXT MEETING MARCH 3

The Chemistry Club emerged from its period of inactivity by holding its first meeting of the year last Thursday evening at the home of Dr. A. P. Saunders. William T. King, '21, was elected president of the organization to hold office for the rest of the college year, and Damon L. Getman, '22, was elected vice-president.

This first session of the Club was turned over to the mercies of the pre-medics, and Physiological Chemistry formed the basic theme for the three papers that were given. The first of these, given by Lighthall, '21, was on "The Mechanics of Digestion". This was followed by a discussion of enzymes by King, '21. The concluding paper of the evening was given by May, '21, with "The Blood" as his subject.

One of the most valuable features of these meetings from a standpoint of interest and information is the informal discussion that follows the presentation of each paper. By this means the members of the organization may ask questions upon points on which they are uncertain, and matters of general interest often not strictly upon the subject, are brought up.

It was decided not to limit the topics of discussion by the Club this year to subjects actually pertaining to the work done in the course of Organic Chemistry, but to discuss themes of interest to the majority of members. The subject of the next meeting, to be held March 3, is to be "Iron and Steel".

NEW ROOMS FOR PRESS BOARD

To Share Offices with Other College Publications.

The Press Board has finally succeeded in securing rooms in the Hamilton-Union quarters on the second floor of North for its offices, according to Chairman Seaver. These rooms, which the Board has been trying to get for some time, will be fitted up with typewriters and other accessories, and a telephone will be installed in order to facilitate the sending of dispatches. The need for this has existed ever since the Board was first formed, as under the present system the members cannot get together for the writing of their reports, and the sending of them is much slower than it will be under the new system.

According to Chairman Seaver, space will be offered in the new quarters to the editors of Life, Lit, and the Hamiltonian for their offices.

SOCCER

The soccer schedule for 1921 has not yet been definitely arranged, but it is expected that Colgate, Syracuse, and Cornell will comprise the list of opponents. Assistant Manager De Witt hopes to arrange for six games in the fall. There is a possibility of getting a man from Sherrill to coach the team.

Spice o' Life

Duff: "Hey, Pete, talk to me for a minute."

Gould: "What for, Slimmer?"

Duff: "Gotta have a list of words that are misused, and I couldn't think of any."

Kaiser: "What is that charming thing he is playing?"

Keehn: "A piano, y' dub."

Hallock: "You know, they call Ramsburg 'half-wit' over there in North."

Rodgers: "Oh, well, they always do exaggerate over there."

Patton: "Very well—let us start with $10,000. How shall we invest the money? What kind of a factory shall we build?"

Class (in unison): "A brewery!"

Brownie: "Find the least common denominator of—"

Voice from rear: "You don't mean to say that old thing's lost again."

He (at house party): "Let's go up into the cemetery."

She: "That's a grave question."

She: "Why do they paint the inside of the chicken coop?"

He: "To keep the chickens from picking the grai out of the wood."

Heard at Houseparty

"And when I kissed her, I tasted tobacco on her lips."

"I didn't know that you objected to a woman who smokes?"

"I don't, but she doesn't smoke."

And, oh, how Mary custom!

Coonrad: "Why is a girl's dress like a good speech?"

McClay: "Why?"

Coonrad: "Because it is just short enough to cover the subject and still be interesting."

The absent-minded professor surveyed himself in the hair-brush instead of the mirror.

"Gracious, but I need a shave," he mused.

The landlord said he'd raise my rent.
I told him to go to it,

Because no matter how I tried
I couldn't seem to do it.

Miller: "Yes, I know she was Swiss."

White: "How did you know?"

Miller: "By the movement of her body."

SPRING DEBATE SCHEDULE READY

Buff and Blue to Meet Rutgers, Wesleyan, Lafayette, Union, and Princeton.

FINAL TRIALS

Three intercollegiate debates have been arranged as a schedule for the Hamilton Debate teams this season. The first of the series will be the Hamilton-Rutgers-Williams debate, which is set for March 11. On March 18, the Lafayette-Hamilton-Union debate will be held. Princeton University will debate in the College Chapel on April 9.

Although the proposition will be the same in each of the triangular debates, "Resolved, that the injunction in labor disputes should be abolished," the arrangement is such that the students may hear both the affirmative and negative of Hamilton debate. In the first of the triangular debates, Rutgers will debate at Hamilton, Wesleyan will debate at Rutgers, and Hamilton will debate at Wesleyan. The home team in each case will uphold the negative side of the question. The advance speeches for these debates will be ten minutes in length, with five minutes allotted for rebuttal.

On March 18, Hamilton will go to Lafayette, Union will come to Hamilton, Lafayette will go to Union. In these debates, the home teams will have the affirmative side of the question.

The Princeton-Hamilton dual debate, which will be held in the Chapel on April 9, is to be a twenty-four hour debate. That is, both teams will be ignorant of the proposition until twenty-four hours before the debate takes place. After the question is decided upon, the captains of the teams will draw for sides. In this debate, the time limits will probably be ten and five minutes.

The final elimination trial for the teams will be held in about a week. At that time, the personnel of the teams will be definitely decided upon.

Y. M. C. A. SHOW MARCH 9

The Y. M. C. A. vaudeville season will open in the College Commons on the evening of March 9. This first Y. M. C. A. show of the year will present as a special feature "Ballot's Midgets", who will put on a comical and fascinating act. This, along with the other vaudeville acts and solos, will make a snappy and entertaining program.

The show is being presented under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. here on the Hill, and is for the purpose of raising funds to help support European schools and colleges, a cause well worth our consideration since Herbert C. Hoover is at the head of the drive in America.

Through much effort on the part of the members of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, Ballot's Midgets were at last signed up for this night, and the faculty has been persuaded to allow the show in the middle of the week. Keep the date open, and bring your cash with you.

VOTED LEADER OF MARYLAND BAR

Hon. Joseph I. France, '95, Leads in Poll of Lawyers Taken by Baltimore Sun—Authority on Corporation Law.

SENATOR FROM MARYLAND

Joseph I. France, '95, has been voted the leader of the Maryland bar by his colleagues, the other lawyers of Maryland. The Baltimore Sun, which conducted the poll, comments as follows:

"Perhaps no other professional man in the city is as little known to Baltimoreans generally as Joseph I. France, who is now acknowledged among lawyers as the leader of the bar. To all except lawyers the name of Joseph I. France means little; they do not even know that he is a lawyer."

Mr. France has never sought the public eye. He is a man of ready and incisive wit and is never at a loss for a nanswer. While all lawyers know him and recognize his attainments, few others do. For that reason the large vote given Mr. France in the Sun's poll of men who might be considered leaders of the bar caused much surprise among those outside the legal profession.

Mr. France has been much interested in civic affairs and in the betterment of conditions, politically, and socially. But he believes that such things usually right themselves. The law has been his mistress and he has served her faithfully to the exclusion of practically every other interest. This service has been recognized by his brethren of the bar, but few outside the profession know of the work that has made him a leader.

HOCKEY TEAM TO MEET BUFFALO

Victory Expected in Games Today and Thursday.

Hamilton will look forward to another hockey victory when the Buff and Blue team clashes with that of the University of Buffalo on February 24. Manager Bennett has secured another game with Buffalo to be played at Clinton on February 22, when the college will have an opportunity of seeing the visitors on the local rink.

Although the ice has been poor, Captain Kaiser and his men have kept in training by working out at the Gym. Practice over the week-end has put the team in fine form. The successive string of Hamilton victories would indicate another triumph on the ice, especially in view of the fact that the Buffalo team has been beaten by Cornell, but the Buff and Blue team is taking no chances and looks forward to a hard fight.

The teams will play six-man hockey and, as Hamilton has been unusually successful with this style of play, a fast game can be expected. The Hamilton line-up will probably include Thompson at center, Captain Kaiser and Clark at right and left wings respectively, R. G. Reeder and Marlow at right and left defense, and R. J. Reeder at goal. For the University of Buffalo, Chassin will probably play center, Denneen right wing, Ebersole left wing, Schynsus and Haft right and left defense, and Waugh goal.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR HOCKEY TEAM

Clarkson Tech Loses to Hamilton in Fastest Game of Season—Kaiser and Thompson Star.

SCORE 6 TO 1

The Buff and Blue scored its fifth straight hockey victory last Saturday afternoon when Captain Kaiser and his men defeated the fast Clarkson team on the home rink. The final score was 6 to 1, the lone Clarkson tally being made by Johnson, the visitors' center. It was the first time that Hamilton had been scored on this season.

In the first period, Hamilton took the offensive with a rush, and tried repeatedly to score. After a few minutes' play at the Clarkson end of the rink, the enemy forwards secured the puck and carried it the length of the rink, only to have it taken from them. The visitors made some long shots, but were unable to score. In the middle of the period, "Tommy" Thompson received the puck which was centered by Captain Kaiser, and shot it for a goal. A minute later, Thompson scored again, carrying the puck the full length of the rink and making the shot unaided.

Clarkson took the offensive at the beginning of the second period, but was unable to put the puck through and Hamilton quickly carried it into their opponent's territory. After some clever pass work, Thompson shot the puck from a point directly in front of the Clarkson goal, scoring the third point for the Buff and Blue. A few seconds later, Bailey Clark made a long and difficult shot for the fourth goal of the game. The Clarkson forwards kept the puck in Hamilton territory during the latter part of the period, but failed to get the rubber past R. J. Reeder, guardian of the Hamilton goal.

The third period was the fastest of the game. Both teams fought hard for points and the men on both sides tried to cage the puck. During this period, Johnson, the clever Clarkson center, made a spectacular dash down the rink and shot Clarkson's only goal for the game. In the last few minutes of play, the Buff and Blue forwards worked the puck down the rink and Captain Kaiser made the fifth successful shot for Hamilton. Again the home team got the jump on its opponents and Thompson made a pretty shot for the sixth goal.

The game was one of the fastest ever played on a Hamilton rink. The ice was in good condition for fast work and both teams played with "pep" and spirit. The Buff and Blue team played well together, Kaiser and Thompson starring on offensive. Clark played his usual good game, while Marlow and Reeder broke up many of Clarkson's attempts to score. R. J. Reeder at goal stopped many shots which threatened to score points for the visitors. Johnson was by far the best player on the Clarkson team. Fenn, the visitor's right wing, played a good game until compelled by an injury to leave the ice.

The line-up follows:

INTERACADEMIC PRIZE SPEAKING CONTEST TO BE HELD MAY 14

The plans for the Inter-Academic Prize Speaking Contest are now well under way and over fifty high schools throughout New York State have entered contestants for the preliminary trials. These will be held at different sections in the State between March 24 and May 7. The successful speakers in these contests will then compete in the Chapel at Hamilton College on Saturday, May 14, at 11 a. m.

The dates for two of the preliminary contests have already been scheduled, namely, Utica Free Academy, Friday evening, April 22, and East High School, Rochester, on Friday afternoon, May 6. Other contests will be held at Waterford, Brooklyn, Binghamton, Canastota, and possibly another school for Northern New York.

The following high schools will send representatives to the preliminary contests for their districts: Cazenovia Seminary, Carthage, Waterford, Ogdensburg Free Academy, Oxford Academy, East High School, Rochester; Auburn; Blodget High School, Syracuse; Pleasantville; Troy High School; Windsoor; Lakewood; Fulton; Camden; Tupper Lake; Rome Free Academy; Albany; Horseheads; Binghamton Central; Mohawk; Clyde; Elmira Free Academy; Canandaigua Academy; Gouverneur; Hudson; Utica Free Academy; Waterloo; Johnstown; Mechanicville; Oneonta; West High, Rochester; New Rochelle; Mt. Vernon; Fleischmanns; Albion; Holland Patent; Ausable Forks; Catskill; Stony Brook Union School; Canastota; Haverling; Bath; LaFayette, Masters Park, Hutchinson, of Buffalo; and Townsend Harris Hall, Bushwick, DeWitt Clinton, Eastern District, Erasmus Hall, Stuyvesant, New Utrecht, Newtown, Theo. Roosevelt, The Boys, of New York City.

The rules governing the contests, both preliminary and final, are:

1. Each contestant must be a bona fide Junior or Senior boy now attending the school he represents.
2. Declamations must be in prose.

HAMILTONIAN NEARLY READY FOR PRESS

Hamiltonian copy goes to the printers on Friday. Editor K. B. Turner is going to take the copy to Buffalo personally in order to avoid delay and possible loss in the mails. By going to Buffalo he can confer with the printer and straighten up everything. Many pictures have been taken in the last two weeks and some of these were taken in the Library. The Charlattans' curtains were used as a background. The book will be dedicated to Dr. Frank H. Wood.

Referee—Noonan of Utica. Time—Three fifteen-minute periods. Timer—Bennett, Hamilton. Goals—Thompson 4, Kaiser 1, Clark 1, Johnson 1.

Dramatic readings, impersonations, and worn-out descriptions are not likely to win prizes. Original declamations are very acceptable. One purpose of these contests is to arouse interest and to develop skill in the art of public speaking. Contestants are expected to use the kind of speeches that men accustomed to public speaking are called on most frequently to make.

3. A first prize, a second prize, and an honorable mention will be awarded in each preliminary contest. Winning a first prize carries with it the opportunity and obligation to speak in the final contest; winning a second prize requires the same obligation if the winner is requested to participate. The prizes in the final contest are $20.00 and $10.00 in gold.

4. A speaker who has already won a first prize in a final contest at the College is not eligible for further contests.

5. In both preliminary and final contests, the order of speakers shall be determined by lot.

6. For each preliminary contest, there shall be three judges, at least two of whom will be ordinarily chosen from towns or cities not represented in the contest.

7. The judges shall hold no conference before voting. Each judge shall indicate his first four choices on a slip provided for the purpose, and the presiding officer shall act as teller. In case of a tie, the presiding officer shall cast the deciding vote.

8. Each speaker is asked to limit his declamation to five minutes. Speakers who do not finish within five minutes will for that reason receive less favorable consideration from the judges.

9. The basis for deciding the awards shall include the following points: General appearance, manner, interpretation, pronunciation, enunciation, ability to hold the attention of the audience, and conformity to the limit of five minutes.

PROF. BONHAM TALKS TO HISTORY CLUB ON GEN. LEE

The first meeting of the History Club for the new term was held in Emerson Hall last Wednesday evening. Robert E. Lee was the topic for discussion, and interesting talks on his life and work were given by Professor Bonham, and by Reid and Ballot. Dr. Bonham brought out some very interesting points about secession, from the standpoint of a Southerner.

At a short business session of the Club, the following officers were elected: Dean Alfange, '22, president; Ralph Perry, '22, vice-president; Adelbert K. Edie, '22, secretary. The next meeting is to be held at the D. U. House on March 2.

—The members of Pentagon held an informal dinner in the Gold Room of Hotel Utica last Wednesday night. Dr. Frederick C. Ferry and Dr. Frank H. Wood, honorary members of Pentagon, were present.

THROOP, '21, TALKS ON G.K. CHESTERTON

Tells Jabberwocks About the English
Poet, Novelist, and Philosopher—
General Discussion by Club.

MARK TWAIN NEXT TIME

At a meeting of the Jabberwocks held last Thursday evening in Professor Fancher's room, Throop, '21, talked on Gilbert K. Chesterton. The talk covered rather completely for so short a time the various fields of the versatile Mr. Chesterton's endeavors. Mr. Throop first showed the relation of Chesterton to the other two men of that curious literary trio composed of Shaw, Wells, and Chesterton. Chesterton's own works, and position in the world of literature then became the subject of attention.

In discussing Chesterton's poetic attempts, Mr. Throop agreed with the critics in that he is by no means a great poet, yet several selections were produced which were not without merit. Chesterton's novels, which the author has described as "fairy stories for grown-ups", received somewhat scanty attention, but this was unavoidable, if such works as "Orthodoxy" and the play "Magic" were to be taken up at any length.

"Orthodoxy" was written as a sequel to "Heretics". In the latter work Chesterton condemned a certain class of radicals, who soon challenged him to put his own philosophy and religion into book form. "Orthodoxy" is the result of this challenge. "Magic" is an attempt to show in dramatic form that there is far more in this world than can be explained by science, or in any way other than by the intervention of some supernatural force. Chesterton asserts a belief in "fairies" in other works than this, and a reader of his works cannot fail to be impressed by his apparently sincere belief in the supernatural.

But the author himself is perhaps more interesting than his ideas of the world in which we live. His style—and style is an indication of the man—is vivid, picturesque, and filled with paradoxes. No one can write as Chesterton writes, for his writing is part of himself, and there can be but one Chesterton.

Mr. Throop succeeded in making Chesterton understandable to those who were before unacquainted with his works, and at the same time managed to interest those of his audience who already had some knowledge of the man.

At the close of Mr. Throop's talk there ensued a general discussion of Chesterton and his theories, for which coffee and cakes lent renewed energy.

The next meeting will be held on the evening of March 3. It is hoped that another member of the Senior Class can be prevailed upon to talk on Mark Twain at that time.

—Henry Kitchell Webster, '97, has just published his latest novel, "Mary Wollaston". The book is having a large sale, especially in the Middle West.
